ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Editorial Board of Journal of Interdisciplinary Research in Education gratefully acknowledges the Editorial Board for reviewing the papers submitted for publication in this issue of the Journal, Vol. 4 No. 1, 2014.

NOTE TO AUTHORS

JIRE is now hosted under the Global Science Journals (GSJ) platform (www.globalsciencejournals.com), a service provided by Springer, as part of the journal’s strategy for wider dissemination and a stronger online presence. Hosting with GSJ will ensure that the journal articles are optimized for search engines making them available to the worldwide audience. This online hosting also allows articles to be found, accessed and cited as early as possible (maximise citations), ensures the articles are DOI registered (for easy citation and indexing) and facilitates better abstracting & indexing for the journal. JIRE is fully open access. Open access publishing makes articles immediately and permanently available online for everyone, everywhere. All articles are published under the Creative Commons Attribution (CC-BY) license, enabling authors to retain copyright to their work.
Manuscript Preparation Guide

1. Manuscripts must be in English and should not exceed 30 pages including diagrams, figures, tables, etc. An abstract not exceeding 200 words, and up to five key words should be included.

2. A copy of the manuscript in electronic version in word format should be sent to:

   Chief Editor, Journal for Interdisciplinary Research in Education (JIRE)
   Centre for Research in Education & Instructional Technologies
   Taylor's University, Taylor's Lakeside Campus,
   1, Jalan Taylor's, 47500 Subang Jaya
   Email: jire@taylors.edu.my
   Website: www.taylors.edu/ICTLE/journal_of_interdisciplinary_research_in_education.html

3. A manuscript submitted to the Journal will be taken to imply that it represents an original unpublished work, not under consideration for publication elsewhere. All manuscripts submitted will be refereed. The contents of the manuscripts shall be the sole responsibility of the authors and publication does not imply the concurrence of the Editorial Board or the publishers. The Editor does not accept responsibility for damage or loss of manuscripts submitted.

4. Manuscripts should be typewritten with double spacing throughout on one side of the paper only. A manuscript should be divided into sections with short titles or subtitles. All pages should be numbered consecutively.

5. The first page of the manuscript should contain: (i) the title and (ii) the name(s) and institutional affiliation(s) of the author(s). A footnote on the same sheet should give the name, present address and email of the author to whom possible correspondence would be addressed.

6. Acknowledgements and information on grants received should also be given in a footnote on the first page of the manuscript, which should not be included in the consecutive numbering of footnotes.

8. Footnotes should be kept to a minimum and be numbered consecutively through the text with superscript Arabic numerals.

9. Illustrations (including graphs and diagrams) will be scanned from originals supplied by the author. They should not be inserted in the text but supplied separately, and must be computer output from a high quality laser printer. All illustrations must be at least half A4 paper size. All illustrations should be referred to as figures and should be numbered consecutively in the text in Arabic numerals. Illustrations of insufficient quality which have to be redrawn by the publisher will be charged to the author.

10. Tables should be numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals headed with short titles and should be typed on separate sheets.

11. Note that journal and book titles are not abbreviated.

In-text Citations

Reference citations in text are done using parenthetical referencing. Most usually, this involves enclosing the author’s surname and the date of publication within parentheses, separated by a comma, generally placed immediately after the reference or at the end of the sentence in which the reference is made, e.g. “Several reasons can be given for the lack of interest in the radio as a medium (Caldwell and Richardson, 1995).” However, it is also common for the authors to be the subject or object of a sentence. In such a case only the year is in parentheses, e.g. “Caldwell and Richard (1995) argue that there are several...” In the case of a quotation, the page number is also included in the citation.

Reference List

The APA style guide prescribes that the Reference section, bibliographies and other lists of names should be accumulated by surname first, and mandates inclusion of surname prefixes. For example, “Martin de Rijke” should be sorted as “Rijke, de M.” and “Saif Al-Falasi” should be sorted as “Al Falasi, S.” For names in non-English languages, follow the capitalisation standards of that language.
Print Sources

Book by one author

Book by two authors

Chapter in an edited book

Dissertation (PhD or masters)

Article in a journal

Article in a weekly magazine

Article in a weekly magazine with DOI

Article in an Internet-only journal

Article in a print newspaper

Electronic Sources

For electronic references, websites, and online articles, APA Style asserts some basic rules, including to (i) direct readers specifically to the source material using URLs which work; (ii) include retrieval date ONLY when content is likely to change (e.g., wikis); and (iii) include all other relevant APA Style details for the source

Online article based on a print source, with DOI (e.g., a PDF of a print source from a database)

Online article based on a print source, without DOI (e.g., a PDF of a print source from a database)

Article in an Internet-only journal

Article with no author identified (the title moves to the “author” position)

Article with no author and no date identified (e.g., wiki article)

Entry in an online dictionary or reference work, no date and no author identified.